Continued Pursuit of Innovative Design

Best-selling Johnston Casuals designer John J. LeShane contributes once again with a new dining collection, as well as a sophisticated new barstool. His Victoria Dining Collection possesses an unbalanced back that draws attention in any room. Its asymmetrical look is fresh and creative addition to our line. The chair is the perfect size and weight to maneuver with ease, while the base provides amazing strength and stability. The table's arms and legs reflect the aesthetic of the chair's curved back pieces. John adds a new addition to our stable of modern stools with the innovative Blake Barstool. It is a robust stool in either preferred height. It is built for comfort in an elegant bar/bistro or a busy kitchen counter.

Veteran Johnston Casuals designer Michael Wolk adds to his impressive line with the addition of two new modern contemporary chairs. With the Ava and Lilly chairs he added two different versions of an upholstered back chair to complement his best-selling CHICAGO chair group. The Ava chair features decorative oval patterns below the seat that are repeated in the shape of the upholstered back support. The Lilly Chair possesses arches below the seat that add to the aesthetic while providing added stability.

We are happy to continue our growing relationship with designer Michael Robinson as he adds a handsome etagere to his Xander Dining Collection, introduced in April 2018. The piece features striking "criss-crossing" lines at the top and bottom. At 60W 16D 77H the etagere allows plenty of glass shelf display and can dominate a room.

Members of the press are enthusiastically welcomed into our showroom at 220 Elm, Room 330, on the third floor.
