

URBAN BARNWOOD RELEASES TWO NEW COLLECTIONS BY DESIGNER CHASE RYAN AT FALL HIGH POINT MARKET

(SUGARCREEK, OHIO — SEPTEMBER 18, 2019) Two new collections by high end Designer Chase Ryan featured at the Fall 2019 High Point Market have been the talk of the town.

Chase Ryan visited Ohio Amish Country earlier this year to immerse in the culture and experience the process of dismantling a centuries old barn. He left the barn site and immediately began sketching. The fruit of his ideas are two new collections integrated into the Urban Barnwood lineup: the 1869 Dining Collection and 1869 Bedroom Collection, respectively.

The 1869 Dining Collection features an authentic untouched barn beam down the middle of the table base visible through the glass top. The 1869 Bedroom Collection features leather and metal tastefully blended with barnwood boards.

The Urban Barnwood brand was launched in 2014 after the owners had many years experience in building other kinds of rustic furniture. Urban has the belief that keeping the process real and authentic, starting with hardwood oak harvested from real American barns primarily from the Ohio Valley area and then heat treating the material for the perfect moisture content and to exterminate all insects keeps the raw material unmatched in the market.

The Ohio Amish craftspeople at Urban have truly set a high standard in craftsmanship and design. Stores and consumers love engaging in the story and meaning behind the reclaimed Barnwood furniture. It satisfies the longing for a touch of vintage, rustic and modern styles.
