

FABRICUT®

Fabricut and its longtime collaborator, Kendall Wilkinson, have unveiled their newest collection, Vignettes, the third offering from this prolific relationship. Building off the highly successful 2019 Vignettes collection, 2024's Vignettes is brighter, softer, ethereal, and more textural. This new assortment comprises indoor textiles and trims with fewer SKUs, resulting in a tighter mix of bolder colors and patterns directly inspired by Kendall's love of fashion and travel, including Israel, Paris, and her beloved California coast.

Kendall believes that "Endless beauty surrounds us each day, and this collection takes note of even the smallest details to invite timeless elegance and allure into your home."

The collection has been curated into three books: Daybreak (violets + pinks), Crystal Spring (neutrals + soft blues) and Sapphire Forest (blues + greens).

The design process began in Spring 2022, kicked off by Kendall's adoration of Blake Lively's magical color-transforming Met Gala dress designed by Donatella Versace. The pink, aqua, and peach tone set the stage for the Daybreak book of textiles and corresponding trim.

Never to be underestimated is the majestic backyard of Kendall's native California, where the climate continues to nurture infinite flora and fauna that informs the sacred geometry of life in color and form. Mother Nature softens the intersection of geometric forms, and the California lifestyle will always weave through Kendall's work. Informed by the many colors of San Francisco and where the sea meets the sand, Crystal Spring encompasses these textures, patterns, and the muted colors of Northern California.

In January 2023, while in Paris for the annual Deco-Off design week, Kendall was deeply moved and inspired by the magnificent Monet & Mitchell exhibition at Fondation Louis Vuitton. The intensity of colors and the many botanical and anamorphic shapes directly inspired new patterns and color work. The many greens and blues in Monet and Mitchell's work are interwoven within the Sapphire Forest book.

About Kendall Wilkinson

THE THOUGHTFUL EMBRACE OF CREATIVE LUXURY.

A California native with a deep appreciation for the Bay Area, Kendall Wilkinson has secured a celebrated reputation in the interior design industry. Establishing her eponymous San Francisco firm in 1992, Kendall Wilkinson Design (KWD) creates bespoke residences emphasizing beauty and comfort.

Kendall was introduced to the world of design through her mother, who was not only an interior designer but also an art connoisseur and style setter. Her creative upbringing was instrumental in honing Kendall's artistic vision. "I learned from my mother to appreciate the value of color, scale, and texture and continue to draw inspiration from the fashion world."

With a foundation of classic design sensibility, Kendall's style continues to evolve with every project she engages in. "As designers, we are informed by artistic, cultural, and technological shifts," explains Kendall of her custom approach to interior design. KWD's versatile team of expert designers, project managers, and creative advisors are intensely collaborative, fostering a language between architecture, interiors, and the landscapes they inhabit.

"Ultimately, it's about bringing the client's vision to life through creativity and service." The firm's portfolio, including commercial and residential spaces, demonstrates this philosophy.
