Hudson Valley Lighting Group Introduces Stunning New Collections at High Point Market

Wappingers Falls, New York, April 9th, 2024 — Hudson Valley Lighting Group, the one-stop shop for the most comprehensive selection of lighting comprised of brands Hudson Valley Lighting, Mitzi, Troy Lighting, and Corbett, is releasing over 150 new lighting fixtures at High Point Market. HVLG will release collections for Hudson Valley Lighting and Corbett, including a debut collection with San Francisco-based interior designer Noz Nozawa.

Hudson Valley Lighting, the lighting group’s namesake brand, will release two new collections: Soul Space and New Nostalgia. Soul Space balances the luxury of maximalism and stripped-back minimalism to realign and nourish the senses. Standout pieces from the collection include Mamaroneck, Tallman, and Fair Haven. “These families’ simple forms and natural materials pair with comforting textures, evoking a warm, healing glow,” shares Sarah Speck, Director of Product Strategy and Partnerships. New Nostalgia explores what is possible when traditional and contemporary design meet, striking a perfect balance of curation and personality.

Corbett, the lighting group’s luxury and sophisticated-chic brand, will release 22 new lighting fixtures from the Dreamscape collection. Layered and visually captivating, this maximalist assortment awakens an earthy ethereality, combining futuristic and botanical forms, bespoke silhouettes, and alluring materials to evoke a sense of wonder. “Ice onyx, raw natural textures, and optic glass are highlighted by vibrant vintage brass finishes and fluid metalwork to create an immersive and sensory experience,” shares Speck.

Corbett will also release the first collection with interior designer Noz Nozawa. Merging Noz's illustrious interior design career and passion project of designing jewelry, her debut lighting collection, which consists of 16 pieces, tells the brilliant story of what's possible when these two art forms collide. In keeping with the jewelry motif, each family is named after the specific jewelry reference it is inspired by, such as the Bezel and Riviere.

These new collections will be on display at High Point Market from April 13 - 17 in Hudson Valley Lighting Group's showroom inside the historic Market Square Building.
