Cereria Mollá 1899 Returns to High Point Market with the Debut of Oud & Leather – Spanish Artisanal Fragrance House Expands Its Luxury Collection with a Bold New Scent –

Fort Lauderdale, FL – October 2025 – Cereria Mollá 1899, the Spanish artisanal candle and fragrance house with over 125 years of heritage, returns to High Point Market this fall with the launch of Oud & Leather. Visitors can experience the brand's latest creation, along with its full line of handcrafted home fragrances, at Booth G-6008 in the Salon Suites at Market Square, October 25–29, 2025.

"We are delighted to return to High Point Market, where we can continue sharing Cereria Mollá's tradition of craftsmanship with the design community," says Patrick Goguillon, Co-Founder of European Scents, the exclusive U.S. distributor of Cereria Mollá. "With Oud & Leather, we've captured a fragrance that blends elegance, mystery, and warmth — with deep, luxurious notes that make it an ideal gift for the holiday season and while transforming any home into a sophisticated retreat."

Oud & Leather evokes elegance and luxury through the deep, mystical character of oud balanced with the soft, velvety intensity of leather. Notes of clove, incense, and white sandalwood create a luminous opening, while ambergris, laudano, and patchouli form a rich heart. A grounding base of oud, cedarwood, and leather completes the fragrance, resulting in a composition that is both sophisticated and inviting.

Each Cereria Mollá candle is handmade using soy wax and 100% organic cotton wicks to ensure a clean, long-lasting burn. Every piece is presented in artisanal glass vases that are individually crafted and hand-painted, underscoring the brand's dedication to detail and tradition. The fragrance will be available across the full Cereria Mollá assortment, launching in five candle sizes ranging from votive to the iconic 15 lb., 7-wick design, all four reed diffuser sizes with matching refills, as well as the Home & Textile Spray and Room & Body Spray. Pricing will be consistent with the brand's existing collection.

With more than a century of heritage, Cereria Mollá continues to set the standard in luxury fragrance through its commitment to quality, craftsmanship, and tradition. Attendees at High Point Market are invited to discover the full range of fragrances at Booth G-6008, Salon Suites at Market Square.
