Debut Alert: La Lune Collection Brings Rustic Redefined to INTERHALL at High Point Market

Milwaukee, Wis. (Oct. 22, 2025) — Interior designers eager for fresh inspiration will find it this October as La Lune Collection makes its highly anticipated debut at High Point Market’s INTERHALL (IH311). Renowned for heirloom-quality furniture crafted from sustainably harvested poplar, cedar, willow and other locally sourced woods, La Lune will introduce its signature Rustic Redefined aesthetic to Market audiences.

Founded by husband-and-wife team Mario and Cathy Costantini, La Lune Collection is celebrated for its eco-friendly designs that blend old-world craftsmanship with modern luxury. Each piece is meticulously handcrafted by skilled artisans using time-honored techniques long forgotten in an age of mass production. Much of the La Lune factory’s equipment dates back to the early 1900s, carefully restored to revive the highest standards of furniture making.

“We’ve always believed that less is more,” said Mario Costantini, president and principal designer. “By keeping our production small and our standards high, we’re able to deliver furniture that feels rare, personal and enduring. For interior designers, that translates into something you can’t find everywhere, pieces that truly enhance a space.”

That deliberate approach has given La Lune a distinctive cachet in the design world. Their collections are admired not only for their beauty but also for their scarcity. With limited runs and handcrafted detail, each piece carries a distinctiveness that interior designers and clients alike find irresistible.

“For designers, La Lune brings exclusivity, practicality, quality and design,” said Jessica Forston, owner, Fringe Interior Design & Home Furnishings. “I have come to them with projects — sometimes the impossible — and they have always made it work. They are a designer’s dream.”

That reputation for rarity and craftsmanship is exactly what La Lune plans to highlight at Market.
