

JOHN-RICHARD

Craftsmanship in Every Detail. A Tradition of Handcrafted Mastery

HIGH POINT, NC, [October 2025] - At John-Richard, we celebrate the enduring value of craftsmanship. Every design begins with intention, created through time-honored methods that call for patience, precision, and deep knowledge of materials. Rather than mass production, our process relies on experienced craftsmen who refine each detail until it meets their exacting standards. This dedication to the human element ensures that every piece is one of a kind.

Our extensive collection of wall décor captures the spirit of craft at its most expressive. Many designs feature mixed materials such as hand-cut paper, textiles, metals, natural fibers, and carved elements, adding richness and tactility to a space. Select compositions are created entirely from individually placed push pins and thread, forming intricate, highly detailed statement pieces. Each work reflects countless hours of meticulous attention, with every element intentionally positioned to create compositions that feel alive and unique.

This commitment to nuance extends into our range of accessories and ceramics, transforming everyday objects into artful accents. Decorative boxes, three-dimensional objects, and finely detailed accents are carefully shaped and painted by hand, often incorporating glass, semi-precious stones, shells, or intricate beadwork. Ceramic vases, bowls, and sculptural forms are similarly crafted, with some remaining purely decorative and others transformed into lamps that blend elegance and practicality.

John-Richard furniture embodies the same philosophy, where each creation is individually shaped by the hands of talented artisans. Natural woods carefully selected, cut, and joined with precision. Panels, curves, and edges are crafted with care, blending traditional joinery with thoughtful reinterpretations. The result is furniture that balances strength and elegance, designed to endure while bearing the imprint of the craftsman at every stage.

Our hand-applied finishes bring the process full circle, featuring surfaces with layered stains, washes, metal leaf in gold or silver, and reactive glazes that respond to heat and form. Patinas and coatings are refined until they strike the right balance of tone, depth, and texture. These final details are not merely decoration but the signature of the maker, ensuring every product carries a presence that cannot be replicated.

At John-Richard, no two pieces are ever alike. Each carries the story of its materials, the vision of its designer, and the skill of the craftsman who brought it to life. The result is lasting artistry that enhances every space it inhabits.

Link to Video

Download Resources for this Release