About Alden Home

At Alden Home, craftsmanship is not a feature; it is a philosophy. Every piece we create begins with a reverence for natural materials and is shaped by hands that honor tradition. Our construction techniques include 5-ply veneers, French dovetailing, and the art of lost wax casting hardware, all reflecting a devotion to lasting quality. Distinctive accents and globally sourced, hand-selected veneers are finished to reveal the natural depth, grain, and light within each wood.

This season, we are pleased to introduce seven new occasional pieces and nine new upholstery additions to the Alden Home Upholstery collection. Designed and upholstered in High Point, North Carolina, each piece is crafted for versatility, offering subtle luxury that resonates across coastal homes, mountain retreats, and every space in between.
