JIMECO | ANTONIA COLLECTION UNVEILS NEW STAND-ALONE SHOWROOM IN HIGH POINT, NC

High Point, North Carolina — February 2026 — In celebration of 50 years of distinguished craftsmanship, JIMECO | ANTONIA COLLECTION announces the opening of its new stand-alone showroom in High Point, North Carolina. Debuting in April 2026 to coincide with High Point Market, the new location marks a defining milestone in the brand's continued evolution.

Situated in the prestigious Hamilton-Wrenn District at 410 & 412 N. Wrenn Street, the showroom has been conceived as an architectural expression of the Jimeco | Antonia ethos—where refined materials, proportion, and artisanal mastery converge.

More than a presentation space, the showroom unfolds as a curated sensory experience. Designers are invited to engage with layered installations, explore finishes in natural light, and experience each collection at true scale. Every vignette reflects the brand's dedication to precision, craftsmanship, and the quiet sophistication that has defined Jimeco | Antonia for five decades. The stand-alone destination also reinforces the brand's bespoke capabilities, offering an intimate environment designed to foster collaboration and meaningful creative dialogue.

Showroom Location:

Hamilton-Wrenn District
410 & 412 N. Wrenn Street
High Point, NC 27260
