

Leo collection

Paolo Vernier reduces the pedestal table to its purest form, turning simplicity into an exercise in balance, engineering, and proportion.

With Leo, Paolo Vernier reimagines the archetypal pedestal table through radical simplicity. The column, reduced to just 26 mm in diameter for table tops up to 90 cm, tests structural limits without compromising strength, even supporting substantial marble tops.

The clean lines and balanced proportions make Leo a versatile collection, suitable for diverse settings and able to pair harmoniously with chairs of differing styles. The pairing with ultra-thin, multi-material tops results in a balanced combination with a strong expressive impact.

The collection includes dining tables, bistro bases, and coffee tables, providing a comprehensive furnishing solution. Its refined style and flexible sizing allow Leo to fit comfortably in spaces of various dimensions, always adding a distinctive touch.

About MIDJ

Founded in 1987 in Cordovado in the Friuli-Venezia Giulia region, MIDJ was born from a desire to combine the artisan expertise typical of the Friuli manufacturing district with a design-driven, innovative approach. Thanks to the creative impetus of Paolo Vernier and the arrival of new international designers, the company has expanded its range beyond the traditional realm of chairs and tables, developing a continuously evolving catalog of solutions for living, contract, and outdoor spaces.

Today, MIDJ is synonymous with high-quality Made in Italy, where close attention to detail merges with a desire to experiment with sustainable materials, forms, and production processes. The Officina delle Idee, an in-house research and development facility, serves as the company's heart: it is here that prototypes and new collections come to life, reflecting the brand's ethos of transforming the everyday into a truly authentic design experience.
