

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

111 Mercer by Tempaper & Co. Makes Its Debut at High Point Market

Introducing 111 Mercer by Tempaper & Co.

Brick, N.J., October 2026 - 111 Mercer, the newly launched trade-exclusive luxury wallcovering brand from Tempaper & Co., will make its official market debut at October High Point Market from October 16- 21st in showroom IHFC, InterHall IH109.

Visitors will experience the brand's second installment of unpasted wallcoverings, printed grasscloths, and luxurious specialty materials, all designed exclusively for the trade.

111 Mercer will also be unveiling its latest collaboration with the William Morris Society, honoring the life, work and ideas of William Morris (1834-1896), one of the most influential visionaries of the Arts and Crafts Movement. Funds from the collection will directly support The William Morris Society's mission to advance education, scholarship, and the preservation of Morris' life and work.

Willow. Designed by William Morris in 1874, Willow is a beautiful depiction of the natural world that inspired so much of his work. Fine willow leaves intertwine in a rhythmic composition, creating a pattern that's both organic and sophisticated. A hallmark of Morris's design philosophy, Willow has remained a beloved classic for more than 150 years.

111 Mercer's William Morris Willow Wallpaper is available on premium printed authentic grasscloth and available in five colorways: Bone, Saffron, Garden Green, Faded Cornflower, and Soft Black.

Garden. Following Morris's vision of celebrating nature through decorative arts, Garden was designed by Morris's protégé and successor John Henry Dearle at the turn of the century as a botanical design resplendent with organic form and intricate composition. Garden is known today as a timeless pattern from the Arts and Crafts Movement.

111 Mercer's William Morris Garden Wallpaper is available on premium printed authentic grasscloth and available in four colorways: Light Saffron, Garden Green, Cornflower, and Soft Black.

Marigold. Originally designed by William Morris in 1875, Marigold exemplifies the natural world that inspired much of his work. The print showcases Morris's famous design style of translating the magnificence of the outdoors into appealing and ornate decor schemes. Flowing vines, blooming flowers, and graceful foliage intertwine to create a richly layered botanical pattern that reflects Morris's belief that beautiful, handcrafted design should be part of everyday life.

111 Mercer's William Morris Marigold Wallpaper is available as traditional, unpasted wallpaper in six luxe colorways: Bone, Salmon, Saffron, Moss Green, Cornflower, and Soft Black.

Clover. Designed by Morris's protégé and successor John Henry Dearle in 1903, Clover captures the quiet beauty of the natural world. Delicate clovers and lush botanicals harmoniously intertwine, creating a balanced pattern that's filled with movement. Clover reflects Dearle's renowned capability to transform organic forms into timeless decorative details.

111 Mercer's William Morris Clover Wallpaper is available as traditional, unpasted wallpaper in six luxe colorways: Bone, Salmon, Saffron & Garden Green, Moss Green, Spring Blue, and Soft Black.

Attendees are invited to visit IH109 to discover the newest chapter in luxury wallcoverings and to connect with the team behind the brand during Fall Market from October 16- 21st.
