

Buster + Punch to Unveil Two New Launches at High Point Market

New Hex collection and Buster + Punch x Tonester Paints collaboration explore the relationship between architectural details, metal finishes and color

HIGH POINT, N.C. — Oct. 17, 2026 — Buster + Punch will unveil two new launches at High Point Market, debuting its new Hex collection alongside its collaboration with Tony Piloseno of Tonester Paints at showroom IHFC IH-212.

The launches reflect a broader approach to interior design: architectural details such as hardware, lighting, electrical elements, metal finishes and color can play a defining role in a space rather than being treated as finishing touches. The High Point activation of Hex is the first-look to the trade of the collection, and the public facing launch scheduled for Q1 of 2027, with products in-stock and available to ship at that time.

NEW HEX COLLECTION

Hex introduces a new design language across hardware, electricity and lighting, bringing multiple categories together through a cohesive aesthetic. Inspired by Art Deco and mid-century design, the collection combines a distinctive geometric silhouette and tactile expression with Buster + Punch's signature solid metal construction and precision engineering.

The collection creates a coordinated design system across hardware, lighting, switches, dimmers and accessories, with modular and customizable elements including interchangeable components, mixed-metal combinations and customizable electrical details.

Hex incorporates precision-engineered solid metal, PVD finishes and selected products made from marine-grade Stainless Steel 316 for improved durability and corrosion resistance in appropriate outdoor and hospitality applications. Hardware finishes include PVD Brass, Steel and Welders Black, with Smoked Bronze available as a plated finish.

BUSTER + PUNCH X TONESTER PAINTS

Alongside Hex, Buster + Punch is partnering with Tony Piloseno of Tonester Paints to explore how paint color and architectural metal finishes can work together.

The collaboration features three curated color and finish pairings:

- Solid Brass + Casino Verde: A rich architectural green designed to draw out the warm, glowing undertones of brass.
- Steel + Passport Blue: A crisp navy designed to soften the cooler qualities of steel while giving the combination a refined, tailored feel.

- Matte Black + Night MKT: A deep, moody brown that creates contrast and depth against black metal.
- Smoked Bronze + Undercroft: A sophisticated, earthy tone paired with Smoked Bronze to create a layered, tonal combination.

The collaboration encourages designers to consider the relationship between paint and hardware as part of the design process, rather than selecting these elements independently at the end.

“We’ve always believed that the details are what give a space its character. Hardware, lighting, finishes and color shouldn’t be decisions made at the very end — they should be part of the creative process from the start. With Hex and our collaboration with Tonester, we’re exploring that idea from two different perspectives: how architectural details can make a statement and how color and metal can work together to create something more considered,” said Massimo Buster Minale, Founder and Creative Director of Buster + Punch.
