Caracole Compositions Debuts The Adela Collection

Greensboro, NC, October 11, 2016 – Visions of graceful, dignified sophistication will abound as Caracole Compositions debuts a new whole-home collection at Fall High Point Market, titled The Adela Collection. Curvaceous profiles, flowing movement, stunning fabrics and shimmering details are the hallmarks of the collection.

Throughout the collection, curving lines surround each piece, even on the sides. This is no more evident than in the Adela Buffet. The Washed Alabaster maple doors curve outward; the sides bend inward; and the piece is wrapped in a flowing, delicately-carved, glistening taupe ribbon motif. Beckoning you to open its doors are two carved insets that evoke the astroid design element, each beaded in metallic taupe to shimmer like two pieces of jewelry on an evening gown.

The Adela Round Dining Table adds a whimsical opulence to any dining room. Generously proportioned at 68-inch, the top shows off a starburst inlay of White Alabaster maple. The rim of the table is trimmed in the carved, metallic taupe ribbon motif. Adding to the table's whimsy is a curvy base that produces a charming effect.

Magical and majestic forms take center stage with the collection's two beds. Both silhouettes are elegantly upholstered with nontraditional tufting that incorporates two interpretations of the astroid pattern. There is a tall and sleek sleigh bed that features beautiful nail details around its edges; and a carved bed that acts as a centerpiece for any bedroom. The beds showcase lush fabrics, the carved ribbon motif and exquisitely curved shapes.

The feminine tailoring of this collection is exemplified by the seating groups. The sofas and chairs have soft curves and subtle movement, but nothing is busy or overly designed. Lush velvets, textured boucles and shimmering details are the hallmarks of the collection.

beautiful satins, in neutral colors, are paired with the signature shimmering taupe paint color. Each seating piece has an elegant outward beauty and exudes a sense of opulence with generous and welcoming proportions.
