Jamie Young Co. to Introduce Over 150 New Items at High Point Market Fall 2019

The unique lighting and lifestyle company will present an eclectic collection of new lighting and home furnishings in their permanent space in the Design Center of the IHFC Building (Showroom D223)

Los Angeles, CA - Jamie Young Company, the Southern California-based leader in innovative lighting, accent furniture, and accessories will be exhibiting an array of nearly 200 new items at High Point Market Fall 2019. This year, the company had four new introduction releases – a more robust level of production than previous years.

The 2019 product introductions were designed to increase the brand's current collection of finishes and materials including plaster, agate, acid-washed metal, wicker and new techniques in blown glass. As adventurous, jet-setting, founders Jamie Young Jeter and David Jeter embarked on several overseas trips this year, the new collection of introductions continue to evoke and enliven global design and spirit while incorporating exotic materials. Jamie Young Co. has also expanded their existing categories for customers by adding new, larger furniture pieces including occasional chairs, tables, and armoires. Designers and retailers can also rely on a swell of the brand's most notable categories, lighting and accessories.

The company, known for having a sophisticated yet down-to-earth approach to modern design has also supplemented their in-line catalog with 65 new product additions to their Lifestyle Collection, bringing the full Lifestyle division to 145 pieces. The Lifestyle Collection by Jamie Young Co. is designed to bring the same quality and design aesthetic as the brand's main-line collection to price-sensitive projects. Previously a separate entity and unseen in Jamie Young showrooms, the Lifestyle Collection will make a petite trade show debut at this Fall's High Point Market. The company is excited to be showcasing a small selection from this collection to designers, stagers, retailers, and e-commerce as an additional option for projects of all types and budgets.

Jamie Young is honored to have their intricately etched floral Blossom Table Lamp (9BLOSGRD255L) made from hand blown glass selected by this season's Style Spotter Kara Cox of Kara Cox Interiors for her trend "Brown is Back", which unearths the resurgence of brown and warm neutrals in home furnishings color trends. The article can be found in High Point Market's Fall 2019 Style Report and Accessory Preview.

Jamie Young's aqua glass and antique brass Vapor Chandelier (5VAPO-CHAQ) and intriguing acid washed metal McCallan Metal Chair (20MCCA-CHAW) were both chosen for IMC's Fall 2019 TrendWatch program, complementing the current global interior design trend, Animalier – a cross of artistry and classical design with a mysterious, colorful jungle landscape embracing better-end materials, fauna & flora of exotic locals, and rich and elegant beguiling colors. The Vapor Chandelier will be on display during Fall Market in the IHFC Green Lobby.

For designers and buyers that are interested in learning more about the brand's story and curation, Jamie will be available in the showroom throughout Market to meet and chat with. Find Jamie and her sophisticated line on the second floor of the Design Center wing of the IHFC building in Showroom D223.
