Nathan Anthony Showcases Wood on Modern Organic Upholstery Intros for Spring

Art Deco inspired elements and fresh colorways on tap for April High Point Market

LOS ANGELES – Custom upholstery resource Nathan Anthony Furniture debuts new Art Deco-inspired frame designs and high-performance fabrics in their InterHall showroom, space IH-602 at High Point Market, April 21-26.

The brand's newest modern organic forms will feature exposed wood frames finished in washed and warm tones, according to Creative Director Tina Nicole, while upholstery covers draw from a palette of green shades.

“At the high end, we’re seeing a return to exposed wood framing and beautiful finishes to complement soft curves in upholstery,” says Nicole. “We’re excited to showcase these new looks along with luxe and high-performance fabrics in fresh colorways for our High Point Market presentation.”

Three upholstered frames with outstanding wood features are included in this season's introduction; each is fully customizable.

Lorenzo and Gabriele Beds

Lorenzo is a new benchmade upholstered platform bed from Nathan Anthony, featuring an exposed wood frame with gently curved edges and a light finish; balanced with wide-set horizontal channel stitching on the headboard and base. Its sister-style, Gabriele, features vertical channel stitching for a modern interpretation of this new classic.

Mathéo Sofa

The Mathéo sofa frame and its sloping arms juxtapose line and curve in harmony with the exposed wood base featuring hand carved feet which are also gently rounded. Two cushion seats add comfort to the tight back upholstered frame.

Mylan Sofa, Chair, Bench and Ottoman

Japandi expression meets Art Deco-inspired form in the Mylan bench seat sofa, set on a gently curved platform base. Each arm face features a solid wood inset and leather strap detailing.

A fourth upholstery introduction takes its cues from the modernist movement.

Monte Sofa

The modernist inspired Monte sofa explores the rounded tight seat for upholstered furniture in a generous scale, adding a feminine spirit with shapely wood feet. This signature design is also available for purchase as an NFT on the Nathan Anthony Digital Collectibles page.
