

STICKLEY®

HIGH POINT MARKET OCTOBER 2018
FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

For immediate release:

At the October High Point Furniture Market, Stickley presents a new generation of Arts & Crafts furniture, created from the point of view of new Director of Product Design, Marissa Brown. Also notable is the introduction of the 2019 Stickley Collector Piece—a unique combination of materials, surely to be welcome in any home.

The 2019 Stickley Collector Edition Console features a partnership with another American company, Motawi Tileworks. This multifunctional, handcrafted piece is proudly adorned with two Riverscape tiles from Motawi. Available in solid, quartersawn white oak or cherry, in a variety of hand-rubbed finishes.

The new Park Slope Collection, by Ms. Brown, combines familiar Arts & Crafts forms with organic curves. The result is a refreshing hybrid, equally at home in a Mission or Modern style dwelling. The collection is anchored by a sweepingly curving bed, paired with tapered dressers. Dining options include two tables, one featuring spindles in a sloping arc, the other using spindles for a positive/negative juxtaposition. Also introduced are a display case, buffet and chair. The Park Slope sofa's gently curved back is echoed in the companion loveseat, chair and accent chair. Occasionals are similar enough in style to harmonize, but crafted in form and materials that are new. The Park Slope collection contains 21 new offerings, all available in solid, quartersawn white oak or cherry.

With space saving in mind, Stickley is expanding its range of recliners with the introduction of new wall recliners with articulating headrests. The models include Conroe, Kingwood, and Woodland and the popular Durango.

Iconic Arts & Crafts sofas and recliners also received new reclining mechanisms—updating the form for new use.

With a special focus on current and emerging home decorating fashions and trends, Stickley is introducing 62 new fabrics and 13 leather to the extensive existing choices.

Sustainably made, crafted in the USA, Stickley continues to make fine furniture to last for generations.

THE PARK SLOPE COLLECTION

A NEW GENERATION OF ARTS & CRAFTS FURNITURE

The Park Slope collection pushes the familiar Stickley Mission collection style into softer, more sculptural lines, taking traditional Arts & Crafts designs in a fresh and unexpected direction.

The collection includes original designs for the bedroom, dining room and living room, each with a unique identity connected by the use of distinctive Arts & Crafts elements.

Park Slope designs interact in a novel way, enveloping and sheltering all who seek respite. Headboards have gentle protective curves. Chairs welcome and embrace their dwellers. Iconic slats take on a different, dynamic identity throughout the line. Indeed, form finds new direction this year and yet honors Stickley's tradition of authentic applications of solid wood construction and hand finishing that enhances the innate beauty of wood.

The Park Slope collection is the first major work of Marissa Brown, the new Director of Design for Stickley. "The designs can be placed in an avid collector's home along with other Art & Crafts furniture or be used in a modern setting," says Brown.

Park Slope is available in solid American white oak and black cherry as well as in the full range of Stickley finishes.

THE PARK SLOPE COLLECTION

TRESTLE TABLE

With clean precise lines of the table resting harmoniously on two elegantly arched trestles composed of fine spindles, the Park Slope trestle table has a distinctly modern feel.

As with all Park Slope tables, the iconic Arts and Crafts spindles take on a refreshing role.

Spindles are arranged to provide a new perspective at every turn. Palpable patterns of light and shadow change the way the table looks, giving way to nature's genius geometry at every angle.

The simple clean line of the tabletop accentuates the natural beauty of solid wood in your choice of quartersawn white oak or black cherry. Capture vivid color and dimension with any Stickley hand-rubbed finish. The 78" table extends to 114" with two 18" leaves for larger gatherings.

The dining collection also includes a unique hexagonal table, chair, buffet, and display cabinet. Available in solid American white oak and black cherry.

THE PARK SLOPE COLLECTION

PLATFORM BED

The striking look of the Park Slope Bed is attributed to the unique combination of iconic Arts & Crafts elements of tapered columns and square spindles integrated with an organic curved sculptured rail emblematic of mid-century Scandinavian design.

This unexpected combination of elements works holistically to produce a harmonious design that envelopes and shelters those who seek rest in its gently curving wings.

The subtle platform base lifts the bed, and combined with the headboard, gives the bed presence without dominating the room.

The platform bed is the centerpiece of the Park Slope bedroom collection, which include a dresser, tall dresser, nightstand, bench, and mirror. Made in America, each piece is available in solid quartersawn white oak or black cherry.
