First Permanent Showroom for Nathan Anthony Furniture

Celebratory event at April High Point Market kicks off new space

LOS ANGELES – Custom upholstery specialist Nathan Anthony Furniture announces it will occupy the company's first permanent showroom at High Point Market, InterHall space IH-602, in time for the spring trade show, April 6 - 10.

The new showroom, located along the glass-enclosed perimeter of Market's most prestigious exhibitor showcase, measures 1700 square feet.

A celebratory event is scheduled in the showroom for Sat., Apr. 6, from 4 to 6 p.m.

"High Point Market has consistently delivered the right dealers and interior designer clients to grow our business," said Tina Nicole, lead designer at Nathan Anthony, who owns the company with husband Khai Mai. "After 10 years in InterHall, we are committed to meeting our customers there twice each year."

Last fall, the Los Angeles-based manufacturer introduced its rebranded identity in the premiere InterHall space IH-102.

At the April Market, Nathan Anthony will focus attention on the new season's art-inspired upholstered furniture, along with its popular, award-winning designs, all bench made in the U.S.

Showroom appointments are available by writing inquiries@nafurniture.com.
